5 Instructors Open Offices in McKay Hall

ONE PROFESSOR and 14 graduate assistants of the language department have moved their offices into the hall of the third floor, McKay Building.

The temporary arrangement of hall offices makes room in 331-341 McKay for history department space.

THE OFFICE spaces, formerly occupied by the language department personnel and members of the psychology staff, were nearly cleared last week when the psychology department was moved to the new $2 million Smith Family Living Center.

Dr. James L. Barker, who occupied one office in the group, and the 14 graduate assistants, who were headquartered in the room, were moved into the hallway until space could be found in language department offices.

History department professors have moved into the vacated offices.

Main Hurdle Still Ahead...

Inspection Team Okays Engineers

Full accreditation was given the College of Physical and Engineering Sciences of the Brigham Young University for the first time by the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools.

To most of the other departmental and college subdivisions at BYU, the recent inspection by the Northwest Association was merely to reinstate them on an accredited basis. But for the newly founded College of Physical and Engineering Sciences, it was a crisis which they met in fine form.

Although the engineering and science department during this first crisis, the main one is still to come, according to Dr. Harvey Fletcher, Dean of the college.

Dr. Fletcher said that the college was examined by representatives of the Engineering Council for Professional Development last quarter.

This organization is the "police force of engineering colleges," Dr. Fletcher said. It is composed of all engineering societies in the nation who elect representatives to the council.

This council is devoted to maintaining a high standard of engineering training throughout the nation, Dr. Fletcher added.

The inspection was made by Professor Fred Merryfield, Dean of Engineering at Oregon State College, Dr. Gilbert McCann, Professor of Electrical Engineering at the California Institute of Technology, Professor Bryan McMinn, Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the University of Washington, and Professor Jess Walton, Head of the Chemical Engineering Department of Oregon State College.

According to Dr. Fletcher, these men have filed their report to the Engineering Council, who will decide on the basis of this report whether to accredit the Brigham Young Universities Physical and Engineering Science college.

Fantasy Drama Cast Selected; Ondine Scheduled Jan. 16-19

The cast has been selected for Ondine, a play by Jean Giraudoux, which is the next major production of the Brigham Young University Speech Department.

Ondine, which is a romantic fantasy about the pure love of a sea nymph for a handsome knight-errant, will be presented Jan. 16-19 in the Smith Auditorium.

According to Director Lael J. Woodbury, the cast includes Carl Markworth, National City, Calif.; as Lord Chamberlain; Ron Olason, Salt Lake City, as Ritter Hans; Helen Keith, Provo, as Ondine; Lorna Hart, Ogden, as Bertha; Chet Harris, Independence, Mo., as Old Man of the Sea; James Fife, Gridley, Calif., as The King.

Other members of the cast include Luana Schow, Twin Falls, Ida.; William Erickson, Salt Lake City; Kwang Nam Ung, Pusan, Korea; Janice Tenney, Chino, Calif.; Jeri Swenson, Downey, Calif.; Carol Christensen, Oakland, Calif.; Brad Powell, Pocatello, Idaho; Dorothy Whittaker, Circleville; Makee Blaisdell, Honolulu, Hawaii; Wayne Elton, Salt Lake City; Terry Lynne Telford, Bountiful; Claudia Woolston, American Fork; and Sandra Forsyth, Covina, Calif.

Tickets will go on sale January 9 in the Smith Ticket Office, and free seats may be reserved with presentation of activity card.

Monday To Start Sign-Up Changes

Changes in registration will begin Monday in the Smith Ballroom according to Bliss Cranall, dean of admissions and records.

Changes may be made Monday through Wednesday without charge. Beginning Thursday a fee of $1 will be charged and changes will be made in the Maeser Building.

Until Thursday only the signature of the dean will be required for registration changes. Beginning Thursday the signatures of instructors of classes being dropped and added will be required in addition to the signature of the dean.

Currently enrolled students will not be able to add classes to their schedules after Jan. 17.

Hungarian Refugee Tells Of 'Escape From Hell'

by Sally Arnold

"DEAR ERIC," ... Very briefly, but most important, I have just escaped from hell."

So began a letter from a Hungarian escapee Nemeth Miklos, to Brigham Young University student Eric Brodin, of Sweden.

Brodin has translated the letter, written in German, in hopes that BYU students might read its dramatic plea for help.

THE LETTER continues with, "I walked forty miles on foot across the country, but I am happy that I was not deported to Siberia ... I have the hopes that I shall again be able to live as a human being; I have lost everything I owned except my faith in Almighty God."

"My parents, however, are starving. If it is at all possible, please send them some food and warm clothing for the winter. God will bless you for it."

"The situation in Hungary is terrible ... Please, please, help us ... only God knows when I shall be able to go (to Zurich). Thousand thanks and greetings. "Mikl"

BRIGHAM Young University students have responded magnificently to a call to aid two Hungarian students whom they do not yet know.

Through the Campus Chest Drive students have given generously to a fund of money to be sent to Austria or Hungary for relief of refugees whose names they will probably never learn.

FOR THE FIRST time BYUers are asked to help a specific family with a definite need.

Miklos' letter has been turned over to the Daily Universe and the studentbody with an urgent request that those who are able and would like to help the Miklos family and their neighbors in Hungary, or "Mikl" and his fellow escapees in an Austrian escapee camp will do so.

Boxes of food and/or clothing may be sent to Nemeth Miklos, Ozt, Lager fur Ungarnfluchtlinge, Schatts, Austria, or Nemeth Miklos, Komarom, Zichy ull, Hungary.

Rush Violation Action Awaited By Social Unit

Charges against the Athenian social unit will be heard Wednesday, according to Jack Nelson, Inter-Organization Council Court Chief Justice.

The IOC court preliminary hearing will review the supposedly "taboo" rushing procedures used on the unit's fall quarter pledges.

Other charges of displaying an "A" on "Y" mountain by the Athenians will also receive court attention.

After the hearing of charges levied against the unit, the Athenians will be asked to enter a plea of guilty or not-guilty.

In the event of a plea of guilty, Nelson will issue sentence, which generally is a restriction of the unit's activities.

A plea of not-guilty will result in further court trials to determine whether the charges are or are not valid.

The exact time and place has not yet been set, Nelson said, but adequate space will be arranged in order to admit interested students to the hearing.

Programmers To Meet

Directors, staff members and emcees of the Student Program Bureau will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the west end of the former Nursing Center.

Winston Christensen, student director of the SPB, said students interested in becoming emcees for the bureau should attend this meeting.

Pre-Natal Classes Offered By Red Cross In 2 Areas

Two "mother and baby" courses co-sponsored by the American Red Cross and City-County Health Department, are scheduled to begin Monday in Utah County.

Prospective parents in the Provo area may enroll for classes to be taught each Monday and Wednesday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Utah County Red Cross Headquarters, 287 E. 1st N. Mrs. Ingar Gatenby, public health nurse from the City-County Health Department, will be instructor for the three-week course.

Expectant mothers and fathers in the vicinity of Pleasant Grove may take advantage of a three-week course taught by Betty Mikesell, public health nurse. Classes will be held each Monday and Wednesday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in the basement of the Pleasant Grove City Hall.

Textbooks may be purchased as an aid to either course. Classes will be taught to new groups in both areas throughout the year.

Instruction on pre-natal care will be included in the course as well as information on how a baby is born, and how to bathe, feed and hold a baby.

Committeeman Named For Assembly Spots

Organizations or individuals wishing to make announcements, introductions or give skits before studentbody assemblies should clear them through assembly committeeman Allan Frazier at least three days before the assembly.

Frazier, who may be contacted in the Banyan office in the basement of the Student Service Center, said that five minutes of each assembly have been set aside for announcements and other business.

Directory Changes Due

Anyone wishing to make changes in The White Key Directory must have the changes in the White Key box in the IOC office, Wednesday at 5 p.m.

Extension Division Schedules Non-Credit Winter Classes

SCHEDULE for winter quarter non-credit classes has been announced by Brigham Young University's Extension Division. The evening classes ranging from Amateur Radio Operator's to The Stork Story, have been arranged to begin during third and fourth week of January. Registration for all classes can be completed prior to opening date at the Extension Division in the Student Service Center. Any inquiry concerning these classes should also be directed toward this office.

THE STORK STORY, meeting each Monday night beginning Jan. 21, is instructed by Dr. E. Porter. This is a basic course for prospective mothers and fathers and designed to prepare a whole family for a newborn.

Amateur radio operator's class repeats from last quarter, taught by Leland Perry and begins every Wednesday beginning Jan. 23, this course is designed for those who would like to know basic requirements for Federal Communication Commission license, the code and practice and theory of radio operation.

ONE OF the more practical classes taught is Home Planning and Construction, a class dealing with home planning, architecture, selection of a lot, materials, and electricity and heating systems. D. Allen Firmage teaches this class which starts Jan. 16 and meets each Wednesday until March 20.

Another practical class is Writing for Pleasure and Purpose, taught by Dr. Thomas Cheney. This lecture course teaches the aspects of writing in such fields as short story, essay, fiction, poetry, drama, feature, radio and television programs, and church publications. First class date is Jan. 23 and continues every Wednesday until March 13.

FOR THOSE who wish to read better and faster, Ernest Olsen is instructing a class which should improve reading comprehension and speed. This class meets every Thursday evening starting Jan. 24.

The principles and practices required for a State Real Estate License is discussed in Spencer Grow's Real Estate for Salesmen class beginning Jan. 28 and each following Monday until April 15.

UTAH and the Westward Movement is designed to inform people regarding the Utah colonization before and after the Utah gold rush. Jay Hunt and various guest instructors will teach the class beginning Jan. 23.

Another repeat from autumn quarter is Lynn McKinlay's The Fascinating Search—Genealogy, a beginning class in ancestral research. This course begins Jan. 14.

For those who would like educational or vocational counseling through testing and interviews, a special class of counseling service is being offered. The Extension Division's Institute and Short Course office should be contacted for more information.

U Represented Institute World Affairs

Three Brigham Young University faculty members were invited to participate in the Institute of World Affairs in Pasadena, Calif., last month.

Robert E. Riggs, Jesse W. Porter and W. Kent Fielding represented BYU at the Institute which was held this year for the first time.

Washington foreign ministers and an ambassador plus auditors from 24 universities, colleges and civic leaders discussed the general theme, "Democracy on Trial."

Dr. Rufus B. von Klein Smid, Chancellor of the University of Southern California, was the Chancellor of the Institute with Charles E. Martin, University of Washington, serving as moderator.

Among subjects of all-day discussion and four daily addresses were Russian technology and democracy, prospects for peace, international armament control, and British and French rule in China.

Force Chorus Sings With SPB

Brigham Young University's Force ROTC Chorus will be making public appearances under the direction of Student Program Bureau.

The cadet choral group will be participating in church services throughout the Provo area. Under the direction of Cadet in Paulson, chorus command the group will sing "Give Your Tired, Your Poor," a song with text taken from the inscription plaque at the base of the Statue of Liberty; "Wild as The Billows," a secular number, and "Unfold Ye Portals," a religious composition by French composer Gounoud.

Chorus members are all Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps Cadets. They were selected by competitive tryouts held the first of the Fall quarter under the direction of Lt. Col. G. Cloward, chorus-adviser.

Banyan, Opera, etc. . .

Activity: Personality's Secret

by Vicki Soha

JOHN Marlow, senior from Blackfoot, Ida., is one of the most prominent personalities on the Brigham Young University campus.

His ready smile and congenial personality, which won him the honor of being one of the preferred men of BYU coeds, is familiar in many campus circles for his interests include journalism, music, and medicine.

Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Press Assistant Vice President in charge of yearbooks, Marlow first became interested in Banyan work when he was a sophomore.

THIS ACTIVITY was stimulated by his various interests in such things as art and photography. Marlow combined all these activities into one man-sized job. He was assistant editor during his sophomore year and edited an all-American Banyan in 1956. This is his second year as editor.

Marlow, a tenor, is also known on campus for his musical ability. Music director of the Sixth Ward, he has sung leads in "Pagliacci" and "Rigoletto." He is now working on "Gianni Schicci" by Puccini.

Music of all kinds attracts Marlow; who has been in Opera Workshop for four years. He plays the piano a little and especially enjoys playing music by Mozart. Marlow would consider singing professional opera, a dream come true.

MARLOW has chosen medicine as his profession. After graduating from BYU, he plans to study at George Washington University, and specialize in surgery. He is looking forward to studying abroad and then to practicing in some large city where the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is active.

Marlow confesses that it is quite a job to keep up with all his activities. At times it is necessary to put a value on them and sacrifice the least important, he said.

Marlow exerts more of his inexhaustible energy in the Blue Keys and the Young Republicans' Club.

Cadets Await Results Of Placement Exams

Most third year Air Force ROTC Cadets are waiting for final results of physical examinations which will determine their future status in the Air Force program.

The examinations were given by a Hill Air Force Base medical team who came to the BYU campus recently to perform the task.

Those taking the exam were mostly returned missionaries who are conditionally enrolled in AFROTC. Results of the physicals will determine the category in which each cadet will be formally enrolled in the program.

Accounting Classes Discontinue Labs

In conjunction with the visual aids study, laboratory periods have been discontinued for students in introductory accounting.

Assistants, either graduates or students with assistantships, will be on hand to aid students in accounting 1 and 2.

Formerly accounting classes met seven hours a week or more; five days for lecture and two to four hours for laboratory periods.

The five-day lecture schedule will continue, but there will be no laboratory meetings.

Classes are expected to take less time with the visual aids, giving time for some discussions, according to accounting department faculty.

Tournament Play To Kick Off Coed Intramurals

Women's intramurals will feature basketball, table tennis, bowling, skiing and volleyball in the winter program.

Entries for the table tennis tournaments, obtainable from the Women's Gym, must be turned in by Jan. 7 with competition beginning Jan. 10.

Basketball entries must be in by Jan. 12 in time for play to begin Jan. 14.

Following on the agenda will be bowling, skiing and a foul pitch night.

Fighting stiff competition in the recent volleyball tournament, three teams finally topped their competitors. The Spikers won in the Independent tourney, the Volleydolls beat in the Majors, and Val Norn excelled in the Social Unit tourney.

The basketball practice schedule is as follows: Social Units, Jan. 7 at 6:30-8 p.m.; BYU Stake teams, Jan. 7 at 8-10 p.m.; Independents, Jan. 10 at 6:30-8 p.m.; P.E. majors, Jan. 10 at 8-10 p.m.; Heritage Halls, Jan. 12, 9-12 a.m.

Cat Scoring Spurt Buries Montana To Give BYU Initial Skyline Victory

by Mark Murphy
JOHNNY BENSON'S soft shot artistry and a raging second half comeback combined to give Brigham Young University a convincing 85-63 triumph over a never-say-die Montana quintet Friday night in the Skyline opener for both teams.

Free throw production accounted for 33 of the Cat points against the rough and tumble Silvertip five. This total set a new George Albert Smith field-house record breaking the previous mark of 30 held jointly by Utah and BYU.

EAGLE-EYED Clancy Waters lowered the boom, leading a determined Montana surge late in the first half to give the surprising Montanans a 42-41 lead at the intermission.

BYU jumped off to a quick lead as Tom Steinke, Cat scoring ace, slipped through for two easy lay-ins within the first minute of play.

The speedy Brigham continued to pour it on running up a comfortable 21-8 lead midway in the initial period. Most of the Cougar scoring came from the foul line as center Roy Thacker converted eight times in the first ten minutes of play.

AT THIS POINT WATERS shocked Cougar followers with a blistering display of uncanny long shot accuracy. Grizzly captain Rudy Rhoades also had a hand in Montana's fierce comeback as the northerners steadily chewed up the once sizeable Cat lead.

With five minutes remaining in the half Montana closed the margin to six points at 33-27. Suddenly the Cats went as cold as the arctic weather outside and the ambitious Grizzlies sprinted to a 42-41 lead as the teams left the floor.

COACH STAN WATTS must have had some choice words for his slumping Cougars during the rest period. BYU opened the final half with a scorching drive which accumulated 16 points in four minutes and left the dazed Grizzlies reeling.

Lynn Rowe, the forgotten man of the Cat quint, spearheaded the BYU drive—scorching the cords for five vital and timely field goals.

Coach Watts cleared the bench with three minutes remaining and the reserves played keep away with the frustrated Montanans until the gun.

BENSON and Thacker each poured through 15 foul shots, missing by one the field house record of 16 held by Dean Parsons of Washington. Benson amassed a total of 27 points for high man honors, followed by Waters with 24.

NOTICE

During the past six months, many items of personal property have been found on the campus. Those that have been turned in to the University have been held for the owners, but there is now an accumulation of unclaimed articles which the University desires to either return to the rightful owners or otherwise dispose of.

Notice is hereby given to all students, alumni and others that all unclaimed articles now in the possession of the University will be available for inspection and delivery to the rightful owners, upon proof of ownership, at the Security Office at the south end of the Wymount Dining Hall between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on or before the 1st day of February, 1957.

Notice is further given that all articles held longer than six months and not properly claimed on that date may be disposed of by the University.

First Upset . . .

Farmers Squelch Redskins

SKYLINE basketball got underway with what could possibly turn out to be one of the most important upsets of the year when the Utah Aggies downed the University of Utah 68-64 Thursday night at Logan.

A late Farmer rally in the final minutes of the second period tied the score at 60-60 and forced the tilt into an overtime period.

WITH SIX minutes to play in the game the Utes held a 56-52 lead and went into a partial freeze. For the first few minutes the strategy worked, with Curt Jensen and Jerry McCleary hitting for free throws and Jensen driving in for a lay-up. The game looked iced for Utah. Then Aggie captain Ted Smith hit a two-pointer from the corner and Bob Crane stole a pass and went the length of the floor to add two more points.

FARMER Jim Haggerty added two from the charity stripe and the Redskin lead was cut to points, 60-58, with 2½ minutes to go.

After some exciting floor play Smith stole the ball, scored a lay-up, and the game was deadlocked at 60-60 with a minute and a half left. The Utes held the ball successfully in the last few seconds first away one last shot—no good and into an overtime period.

THE FIVE minute extra period started out as the game had gone, a see-saw battle. Smith hit first on a lay-up to give the Utes the lead, and Utah's Mike Kane canceled it with a two-pointer. The Farmers' Joe Loy added two more on a set-play for the Aggies, and Pearl P. lard closed it to 66-64 on a lay-up. Then Smith, the game hero, wrapped it up with a lay-up through a battling Utah defender and that was all she wrote. Far as the Utes were concerned. Final score, Aggies 68, Redskins 64.
